

Humboldt State University Institutional Learning Outcomes

In the course of achieving competence in a major area of study, HSU students will acquire intellectual skills and knowledge of cultures, history, and the physical and natural world that will prepare them for fulfilling careers, for and thoughtful and civic participation in democratic society, civil society and to work for sustainable, just societies.

Specifically, the HSU curriculum ensures that all graduating students will achieve competence in the seven areas of concentration and assessment described below they will be able to:

1. Equity and Social Justice – HSU graduates will be able to identify and evaluate the systems of power and privilege and identify methods for creating principles of equity as crucial to diverse, inclusive, and racially just and equitable communities ~~in a globalized society~~;
2. Sustainability and Environmental Awareness – HSU graduates will be able to explain how the functions of the natural world, society, and the economy and how social and economic systems depend on the resilience, sustainability, and conservation of ecological systems;
3. Information Literacy – HSU graduates will be able to locate, evaluate, and employ information effectively and ethically for a wide range of purposes;
4. Critical Thinking – HSU graduates will be able to critically evaluate issues, ideas, artifacts, and evidence to guide one's thinking;
5. Written Communication – HSU graduates will be able to develop and express ideas effectively in writing;
6. Oral Communication – HSU graduates will be able to effectively communicate orally for informational, persuasive, and expressive purposes; and
7. Quantitative Reasoning – HSU graduates will be able to apply math concepts and skills to the interpretation and analysis of quantitative information in context.

Humboldt State University Institutional Learning Outcomes (revised for Second Reading)

In the course of achieving competence in a major area of study, HSU students will acquire intellectual skills and knowledge of cultures, history, and the physical and natural world that will prepare them for fulfilling careers, for thoughtful and civil participation in democratic society, and to work for sustainable, just societies.

Specifically, the HSU curriculum ensures that all graduating students will achieve competence in the seven areas of concentration and assessment described below.

1. Equity and Social Justice

HSU graduates will be able to identify systems of power and privilege and identify methods for creating diverse, inclusive, and racially just and equitable communities.

2. Sustainability and Environmental Awareness

HSU graduates will be able to explain the functions of the natural world and how social and economic systems depend on the resilience, sustainability, and conservation of ecological systems.

3. Information Literacy

HSU graduates will be able to locate, evaluate, and employ information effectively and ethically for a wide range of purposes.

4. Critical Thinking

HSU graduates will be able to critically evaluate issues, ideas, artifacts, and evidence to guide one's thinking.

5. Written Communication

HSU graduates will be able to develop and express ideas effectively in writing.

6. Oral Communication

HSU graduates will be able to effectively communicate orally for informational, persuasive, and expressive purposes.

7. Quantitative Reasoning

HSU graduates will be able to apply math concepts and skills to the interpretation and analysis of quantitative information in context