Resolution on New Native American Studies Minors
#05-14/15-ICC – 9/30/2014

RESOLVED: That the University Senate of Humboldt State University recommends to the Provost that the new Native American Studies Minors described in curriculum forms 13-308 and 13-309 be approved.

RATIONALE: The two new NAS minors are: Indigenous People, Natural Resource Use, and the Environment and Tribal Leadership. Both the NAS program and the ICC believe that these minors should help provide valuable focused study especially for Native students who are not majoring in NAS, but who want expertise that will complement their major area of study and will prove beneficial for their Tribal Nations.

The ICC expects that these minors should be able to meet the expected standards of at least 2 graduates per year. If they do not, then further curriculum revision will follow.
